Digital Footprint

This is the personal information you leave when texting, sharing a photo, looking at a website and more.

A digital footprint can be used to track or find out what you do on your phone, tablet and computer.

How Scammers Tell You To Pay

How Scammers Tell You To Pay

If anyone ever says you have to:

- wire money,
- or pay them with a gift card
- or pay them with cash reload card,

That's a scam. No matter who they say they are, or how urgent it seems.

- You should stop.
- Get off the phone.
- Talk to someone. And then tell us at ftc.gov/complaint.

What You Know About Being Safe On Social Media?

Meeting with a stranger you met online can be dangerous. To be 100% safe, don't meet strangers in person. If you really have to get together, have the meeting in a public place, tell someone you trust, and bring some friends along.

What You Know About Being Safe On Social Media?

Read

Between

The

Lines

Read between the “lines.” It may be fun to check out new people for friendship but be aware that it’s not always safe. Sometimes the nice things that they say can be used to trick you.

What You Know About Being Safe On Social Media?

1. Everything you post or text is PUBLIC.
2. Be kind online. Or at least treat people the way you'd want to be treated. If someone's mean to you, try to ignore them then, that makes them stop. Use privacy tools to block them from viewing your full profile and contacting you.
3. Make sure the settings are private. If they don't know how to do this, they can ask for help from a friend, family member, or staff person.

What You Know About Being Safe On Social Media?

4. Passwords, Social security number, and bank numbers are private. Don't share, even with friends. It's hard to imagine, but friendships change and you don't want to be impersonated by anyone. Pick a password you can remember but no one else can guess. One trick: Create a sentence like "I graduated from King School in 05" for the password "IgfKSi05."

5. Don't talk about sex with strangers. Be careful talking to strangers, especially when talking about sex. These people may try to abuse you. If they don't stop what they're doing, call your local police or contact CyberTipline.com. You can get your case manager to help you with this.

6. Think about what you post. Sharing private information can cause you problems later on. Even people you consider friends can use this info against you, especially if they become ex-friends.

7. If you are bullied. Talk to someone you trust. Tell them the full story so they know how to support you.

If it's on the Internet, it isn't private.

WHAT IS SEXTING?

1. “Sexting” means sharing nude photos on your cell phone. But, it goes on the internet too. This can cause serious legal problems. You could lose your job.

WHAT YOU NEED TO KNOW ABOUT SEXTING

2. It’s illegal. In Vermont, taking or sharing nude photos of someone under 18 is illegal. If you keep them on your phone or computer you could be charged with possession.

You can't take it back

3.. Even if you delete - someone may already have it and be sharing it.

There's the emotional damage

4. Do not send nude photos of yourself, even to a friend. They could become an ex-friend and send it to everyone you know. Not only can they be sent around; they can be kept online for people to find forever.

WHAT TO DO IF YOU GET “SEXTED”

5. If a nude photo arrives on your phone, do not send it to anyone else.
6. Talk to someone you trust. Tell them the full story so they know how to support you.
7. If the picture is from a friend, tell them why this is a problem. You’re actually doing the friend a big favor.

What do you know about being safe on your phone

Be smart when using a cell phone. All the same tips apply with phones as with computers. Be careful who you give your number to.

Phones are personal. Letting other people use your phone when you're not around can be a problem. They can post things on your facebook page. It will look like you did it. It's a good idea to lock your phone when you're not using it.

What You Know About Being Safe On Your Phone

Are you someone who is texting all the time? If you do a lot of texting, this can annoy your family and friends. Try not to be texting during meals or in the car or other times when you are hanging out. It's a sign of respect to keep off your phone.

What You Know About Being Safe On Your Phone

Down time is good. Constant texting, checking social media and talking can affect sleep, concentration, work, and other things that deserve your thought and focus. You need your sleep and real friends understand there are times you just need to turn off the phone. Harassment can happen between midnight and morning too.
